

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a method for the production of fiber pulp for subsequent use in the production of a fiber web, especially a paper or cardboard web, the fiber pulp that was produced in a pulp production process is first loaded with an additive by way of a chemical precipitation reaction.

- 5 The loaded pulp is then dried and available for subsequent utilization or formulated into a suitable form for shipment.